What kind of insurance is this?

Loan protection insurance is a voluntary personal insurance policy. It helps ensure your ability to repay your loan in challenging financial situations covered by the insurance. The insurance provides cover against incapacity for work and unemployment for wage earners and cover against incapacity for work and critical illness for self-employed persons. In coverable situations resulting in incapacity for work and unemployment, the insurance covers the loan's monthly instalments. In the event of a critical illness, the insurance pays out a compensation equal to the remaining sum insured. Both wage earners and self-employed persons can supplement the insurance with cover against accidental permanent disability and death. The details of this cover are given in a separate Insurance Product Information Document.

You are eligible for loan protection insurance if you are aged between 18 and 59, healthy in the manner required by the insurance, and have resided in Finland for the last 12 months. The insurance can be taken out either as single or joint cover.
